NSP SURFBOARD 9'1" PRO LONGBOARD TEAL

Construction:

Consider the CSE-version of the Pro-9 the most performance-oriented version with carbon elements and a 6mm wood stringer. The Nature FLeX Version comes without carbon elements and is considered the more eco-friendly version of the Pro-9, while the element version of the Pro-9 features the most durable construction in the lineup with wide, fiberglass stringers and our precise- and ultra-durable Elements moulding technology.

Bottom: Soft roll to mid-V to V to double concave

Rider: Intermediate – pro

Wave Type: All conditions

Shape:

The Pro-9 is a longboard with as much shortboard crammed into it as possible. Carl Schaper will often point out the back-third of the board, as it fits almost perfectly on his 6'2" step up, with the same thickness, tail dimensions and rails. The bottom has a soft roll to V in the middle, running into V with a double concave in the tail.

With several years of development, the latest and greatest tweak to the Pro-9 is in its nose-riding capability.

Fin Setup:

The Pro-9 comes in a 4+1 fin configuration enabling you to be creative in your setup as a quad thruster or single fin. NSP placed the Surf 10 fin box slightly further back, creating an ideal configuration for a thruster setup. The board comes with FTU fin boxes, making it compatible with futures fins. Right out of the box, the Pro-9 Elements comes with a 2+1 set – a 9" Nylon center fin and two MFC-designed side bites.
